Electrical Substation
The pathway between Charles Morris Residences and the School of Earth and Environment will be closed.

21 September 2019 – May 2020
We are carrying out a significant project to waterproof a major electrical substation that provides power to campus. The £2m improvement works are part of the University’s aim to update the electrical infrastructure that supports campus facilities and buildings. This means the pathway around Charles Morris Residences and the School of Earth and Environment will be closed for eight months.
